

OMG series: Article #6

Men Will Walk on Tip Toe for a Time***

You're gonna wanna be prepared. The energy will be arrestingly rarified and refined. It will cause breathing to lull and tears to flow. The coarseness of what you knew will give way to utter peace and quietude. Many around you will experience profound healings. You will find familiarity in the energy. A deep sense of unconditional love will sweep over you and you will experience a bliss that you have never known.

It's a major sea change - this cycle for humanity. And this Day of Declaration, this auspicious day when Maitreya, the Christ, comes before humanity and reveals His true status, will go down through history as the turning point in the evolution of mankind. Maitreya's Love, His energy, will pour out in tremendous potency through the hearts of all humanity. He is omniscient and omnipresent and will create, on this day, a telepathic rapport with every adult in the world. The magnitude of this is truly unbelievable. EVERYONE will hear His thoughts, ideas, hopes and plans for the future telepathically, in their minds, and amazingly, in their own language. This is a repeat of the happenings of Pentacost, where the Holy Spirit descended on a group of Jesus' disciples and they heard miraculous messages having to do with God's mighty works in their minds, in their own languages. Only this time, the happening will be worldwide.

Maitreya's "overshadowing" on this glorious day will bring a newfound sense of brotherhood and sisterhood - a connectedness heretofore missing in our lives. There was an outpouring of Maitreya's Love during Princess Di's funeral in 1997 - perhaps you felt it. A Washington Post article on September 6th, 1997 stated, "Britons' grief over Diana's death united the country in a way that astonished even themselves." This is the power of the Lord of Love. It brings people together. It creates within us a longing for the good and an understanding of the need for sharing.

I'm just gonna be blunt here and say it. It's a good time to lay off the pot and ciggies and alcohol and opioids, and maybe even the junk food. You're gonna wanna be PRESENT for this Day of Declaration, when you'll see the face of Maitreya - the supreme Head of our Spiritual Hierarchy - on your television sets (or maybe on your computer screens), and you, bizarrely, will hear His message in your head instead of through your device. It's a good time to tune yourself to a higher vibration, to make the most out of this unprecedented experience. Find the strength to cultivate mental poise and still the emotional waters. You won't regret the effort because this is the biggest and most extraordinary event in 2000 years. May be best not to be watching the football game.

Why is this happening, you might ask? Well, because WE have created it! We have begged and pleaded and prayed for help. And He is here in answer to this invocation. And why has it been taking so long for Maitreya to come before us and declare himself? Because WE have created this also. The big WAIT! He was ready to come forward way back in the 50s. But we've been too obsessed with our warring and materialistic ways. We have also been too doubtful and jaded and cynical and suspicious to create the necessary buzz to get things rolling. You see, the media responds to pressure from the public, and if the pressure is not there, the media is not interested. And the media is OUR REPRESENTATIVE in this equation. In order to avoid infringing our free will (which Maitreya would be doing if He just jumped onto the scene, yelling "Ready or not, here I come!"), He has been waiting for a solid invitation..... He has been waiting in the wings for a while now - I guess, waiting for us to get fed up enough with the status quo to finally embrace the need for that God-awful thing called CHANGE! And, judging by the number of people who are royally p'd off these days, I'd say we're getting close!

If you wanna help get this show on the road because you're tired of WAITING and tired of the greed and selfishness and violence in the world, then SHARE THIS STORY - share it however much you believe it, even if it's only enough to say, "There's this crazy person who says the Christ is in the world and going to be on our TV screens!" Even this is useful in putting the "possibility" out there into the mind belt, and it works towards that all-important buzz.

Maitreya is the World Teacher**. He fulfills the expectations of all major religions (and some non-religious) groups, but no group will be able to "claim" Him as their own, or "deliver" Him. Maitreya says, "Without disturbing anyone, I will choose My moment".

I know this may be a big leap for many of you - the notion of Christ walking among us again and coming before the world, on our television screens, as a modern man, inspiring us to create a civilization based on sharing. Believe it...or not. Believe it.....or not. Nothing will stop the inevitability of it..... if it's true.

* This title is a quote from a message about Maitreya's emergence given by one of His advanced disciples.

** See OMG series: Article #1 "OMG!"

(For comments or questions: omg@omgseries.info)